

Sheriff Names Slain Men; Awaits Report

Two bodies found Thursday in the trunk of a car at the Brooks-Yates School have been identified as Cincinnati men by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, who has reconstructed some of the events leading to their apparent murders.

However, the cause of their deaths remains a mystery to county lawmen. The bodies were transported to the Hamilton County Morgue Thursday afternoon and a report of findings has not been released.

Bureau of Criminal Investigation Officers in London did say that the 347 magnum revolver found in the car was not the murder weapon. They also found a box of ammunition.

The men, William Richard Wilson, 31, and William Charles Lyons, 32, were identified by fingerprint examination according to Sheriff Radcliff. They both have reported criminal records.

The car, abandoned at the Brooks-Yates School on Route 104 since late Sunday night, has been traced to Etta Marie Davis of a Madison Twp. suburb of Dayton. Miss Davis is the alleged fiancée of Wilson.

Radcliff, back early Friday morning from talks with police in Dayton and Cincinnati, said Miss Davis had not filed a stolen report on her vehicle, a 1972 Oldsmobile Cutlass, because she loaned it to Wilson.

The investigation revealed that Wilson and Miss Davis spent Sunday afternoon in Cincinnati. Wilson had a trip planned, but Miss Davis apparently wanted to return to her Dayton home.

She took Wilson's Cadillac and lent him her car "in an apparent effort to save fuel," Radcliff said.

The vehicle was first discovered on routine patrol by Sheriff's Deputies early Monday morning and checked daily until a custodian at the Brooks-Yates School noticed fluid seeping from the trunk and a foul odor near the vehicle.

Deputies, under the direction of Sheriff Radcliff and County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt, ordered the trunk opened about 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Both men, heavy set and swelled from decomposition, were found stuffed in the trunk. They had tape covering their mouths and plastic bags over their heads. Wilson had an electric cord tied around his neck.

BCI officials and Sheriff's Deputies thoroughly searched the vehicle for clues in the slayings. Radcliff hinted that his investigation is "leading from the Dayton area."

DEAD MEN FOUND—Pickaway County law enforcement officials awaited the arrival of Coronor Dr. Ray Carroll before removing the bodies of two Cincinnati men found in a trunk of a car at Brooks-Yates School. They are now awaiting for autopsy reports from the Hamilton County Morgue.

Viewing the body of William Lyons, in the trunk, are, from the left, Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff, County Prosecutor Richard L. Gerhardt, and Deputies J. Phillip Brown and Jim Fite.

Economic Decline Said Worst Since World War II

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose one per cent in June as sharply higher prices for a wide range of consumer goods and services kept inflation soaring, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's figures underscored the bleak economic news Thursday from the Commerce Department which reported the economy underwent one of its most severe declines since World War II in the first half of the year.

The nation's output of goods and services—the Gross National Product—dropped between April and June for the second successive quarter of declines, the Commerce Department said. Some economists believe that two consecutive quarterly declines should be considered a recession. Other economists feel other factors must be considered.

The June rise in the consumer price index, announced today, was led by higher prices for new and used cars, medical care, mortgage interest costs, household durables and fresh fruits.

Food prices rose a seasonally adjusted three tenths of one per cent, a rate slightly more than usual for June but a much more moderate pace than in any other month this year with the exception of April when food prices fell four tenths of one per cent.

The June increase in consumer prices works out to an annual rate of 12 per cent. For the three months ending in June the pace of inflation soared at an adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, according to the government figures.

Consumer prices last month rose to a level 11.1 per cent higher than a year ago, with the government's index at 147.1. This meant it cost $147.10 to purchase a variety of consumer goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

Nonfood items rose an adjusted 1.3 per cent, the sixth consecutive month of rapid rise. This was a reflection of sharply higher prices at wholesale which have continued to soar since price controls were dropped April 30.

Also up sharply last month were service costs which rose one per cent, the same as in May.

As has been the case for most of the past year, the spurt of inflation took another bite out of the purchasing power of the average production worker.

Real spendable earnings, or take-home pay adjusted for taxes and inflation, fell by three tenths of one per cent last month to a level 4.5 per cent below a year ago. Over the past year, the government has reported real spendable earnings dropped every month with the exception of May, September and July.

Leading the surge in nonfood prices was the rising cost of new automobiles which went up in June instead of declining as usual. Also up were prices for household goods, gasoline, fuel oil and clothing.

For the second quarter of the year, the consumer price index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 10.9 per cent, compared with 14.2 per cent in the preceding quarter. The rise in the food index slowed from a 19.4 per cent annual rate in the first quarter to 3.1 per cent in the April-June period, the smallest quarterly increase in two years, the government said.

Oil Company Faces Fine For Leakage

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Gulf Oil Corp. could be fined $5,000 as a result of a storage tank leak that allowed about 50,000 gallons of gasoline to escape into the Cuyahoga River, the Coast Guard said Thursday.

But a company spokesman said Gulf had not been informed of any fine.

Cleanup operations are costing Gulf quite a bit, however, the spokesman added.

Much of the gasoline has evaporated, while some has been suctioned off by pollution control boats, the Coast Guard said.

Coast Guard Lt. Klaus Adie said that under federal antipollution statutes the company is liable for the fine as well as costs of the cleanup.

About 160,000 gallons of the fuel leaked into the ground Monday from the storage tank, and part of it ran into the river.

The company says some seepage still is occurring. Booms are being used to contain the slick.

Turk Assistance Asked In Cyprus Situation

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Demands for Turkey's armed forces to intervene in Cyprus and prevent Greek annexation of the island increased today.

Opposition politicians, business and labor leaders and newspapers all urged decisive action to repel any threat to the freedom of the 115,000 Turkish Cypriots on the island 44 miles off Turkey's southern coast.

Former Premier Suleiman Demirel, head of the leading opposition party, said Turkey would not concede even a piece of rock to Greece.

"The Turkish nation is completely united on this vital national cause," he declared.

Feruh Bozbeyleli, chairman of another conservative party, wrote Premier Bulent Ecevit that the government should start military operations immediately.

"Never before has Turkey had such an unquestionable right to intervene," he asserted.

The chambers of commerce and industry announced that "the Turkish private sector with all its resources" was at the disposal of the armed forces.

The biggest labor federation offered to halt all strikes to show support of government policy on Cyprus.

Ecevit was expected back today from London, where he conferred with

Thunderstorms Hammer Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms dotted the national weather picture from the Northern Plains to the north Atlantic coastal region today, with most of the nation enjoying mild temperatures.

One storm dumped golfball-size hail near Bovey, in northeast Minnesota, and 72-mile-per-hour winds struck Grand Junction, Colo., causing some damage to aircraft, trailers and power lines.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., was soaked by an inch of rain, and almost that much fell at Chadron, Neb., and Tucson, Ariz.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 91 at Needles, Calif., to 52 at Quillayute, Wash.

Europe by President Nixon to try to avert war between Greece and Turkey, flew to Athens this morning and was to come on to Ankara.

Ecevit said in London he was hopeful of a peaceful solution. And so far he has stopped short of saying Turkey would use its superior military forces against its neighbor and ally in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Turkey's armed forces outnumber Greece's 450,000 to 160,000, and the Turks have twice as many tanks. But the Greeks would have the advantage of superior forces on Cyprus, where Athens can count on the 11,000-man national guard and its 650 Greek officers who overthrew President Makarios, plus a 1,000-man Greek army detachment. Turkey has only a matching 1,000-man force.

The Turkish minority lives in enclaves separate from the Greek Cypriots, with United Nations forces patrolling a "green belt" between them. So far the coup has had no effect on the Turkish Cypriots, and they have moved about normally.

Nikos Sampson, installed by the Greeks as president of the new Cypriot government, said the long, inconclusive talks to normalize relations between the two communities would go forward. But Rauf Denkash, leader of the Turkish Cypriots, commented:

"It was difficult enough talking to Makarios. It will be impossible with Sampson."

Bloodmobile Visit Here Is Tuesday

The Bloodmobile will visit Circleville next Tuesday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Community United Methodist Church, corner of Pickaway and Main Sts.

Special requests are made for blood at this visit because of a number of open heart surgeries scheduled in the Central Ohio area. If the 58 pints of blood needed to perform the five operations are not received, the patients will be placed on a waiting list until the blood is available. Some of these heart patients have already been rescheduled.

Four Columbus hospitals, Children's, Mt. Carmel, Riverside and University, are issuing pleas for blood at this time. A minimum of ten pints of O positive and a minimum of ten pints of A negative are needed immediately.

Bloodmobile statistics show the Central Ohio area is running about 100 pints per day short of demand.

Pickaway Countians who wish to make an appointment to donate blood may call 474-5736. Those wishing to give especially for open heart surgery may specify that purpose at the time they register at the bloodmobile.

Roundtown Merchants Fight Inflation With Sidewalk Sale

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, giving up on a modest early rally attempt.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.80 at 787.39, although advancing issues held on to a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was slow.

Brokers said the market atmosphere was chilled a bit by the government's report that consumer prices climbed at a 12 per cent annual rate in June, even though bad news on inflation had been expected for the month.

Southern Co. was the most active NYSE issue, up 1/2 at 12. A 199,900-share block of the issue changed hands at 12 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index edged up .14 to 79.54.

Giant Yellowknife, the Amex volume leader, added a point to 17 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .06 to 43.76.

Vocational School Board Says Will Open Sept. 4

The Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational Board toured the new building prior to the regular meeting Thursday evening. After the tour, the architect discussed with the board the status of the work completed and that remaining uncompleted. Concluding his progress report, the architect told the board the installation of the telephone system is currently underway with most of the internal phones installed. The outside hookup has not yet been done.

There is still a substantial amount of electrical work to be completed but both the board and the architect maintain the same opening date of Sept. 4.

Selection of the brick for the auxiliary building was made at the meeting. The brick to match the main building was not available due to the strike. The board selected a contrasting brick instead.

Two additional members were added to the teaching staff. Employed were Mrs. Margaret McGarby as a teacher of cosmetology and Russell H. Boley as teacher of agricultural mechanics. Staff openings are still present in food service, drafting, agricultural business, and English.

Additional staff members are still needed in both custodial and lunchroom personnel.

A recommendation for reimbursement for employee travel on school business was discussed and approved. The board agreed to raise the rate per mile from ten cents to 12 cents.

Ralph Neal, vocational director, reported to the board on accounts which were closed out on June 30. Neal also described the process of getting the cosmetology program approved by the State Board of Cosmetology. He said the written application was quite detailed.

Concluding the meeting was the report of Ray Pack, coordinator of guidance, who informed the board of the status of the student handbook which is nearing completion. Enrollment is holding steady at approximately 540. Pack reported to the board that only about two students have withdrawn during the summer.

The orientation materials were reviewed and discussed by Pack and the board.

The next meeting will be Aug. 1 at 8 p.m.

Illinois Explosion Injured 78 Persons

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — An explosion and fire engulfed a two-square-block area of a massive railroad yard today. Hospital officials said 78 persons were injured and a dozen were hospitalized.

A dispatcher for the Norfolk and Western Railroad said the explosion tore through a building used for overnight sleeping by rail crews.

Three hours after the initial explosion, the fire was still burning.

A spokesman at the Decatur Memorial Hospital said that 25 injured persons were brought there and two were admitted. At St. Mary's Hospital, a spokesman said 53 persons were treated and 10-12 admitted.

Fire fighters were evacuating homes in a two-block radius of the yards, a sprawling complex east of Decatur, and said more explosions were possible.

Cause of the explosion was not known.

Most of the injuries occurred as residential windows shattered with the 5:03 a.m. blast, officials said. Glass damage was prevalent over a wide area, police said.

Authorities said a boxcar containing dynamite was pulled clear of the fire after an alert yardmaster notified fire fighters of its presence.

All available fire-fighting equipment in Decatur was on the scene, officials said.

A Norfolk and Western dispatcher said as many as 24 railroad employees were believed injured by fire and flying debris. He said the explosion occurred near a building used by crews for overnight sleeping.

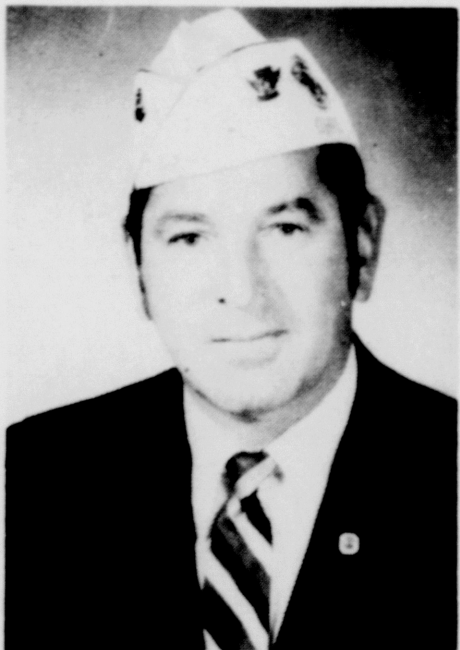

He said the explosion apparently originated in a chemical tank car, but did not know its contents. Switch engines were at work in the area when the explosion was touched off, he said.

Other cars containing volatile materials still were in the area, the spokesman said.

Fire officials said trucks and crews from 11 outlying fire districts were summoned to fight the fire or provide standby protection for the city.

Low Level Flights Planned

The 302nd "Buckeye" Tactical Airlift Wing at Rickenbacker AFB, has revised its low level flight training route over central Ohio to maximize flight crew training while reducing actual flying time to reduce fuel consumption.

The new low level route will take the Buckeye Wing's C-123 "Provider" transport aircraft through Franklin, Pickaway, Ross, Vinton, Pike, Jackson, Athens, Perry, Muskingham, Licking and Fairfield counties. The routes are flown in accordance with Federal Aviation and U.S. Air Force regulations and planned to cause the least possible inconvenience to Ohio citizens. During the day 302nd aircraft will fly the route no lower than 500 feet from the ground. At night they will fly no lower than 1000 feet.

The purpose of the low level flying is to give Ohio reservists training in low level, ground reference navigation and low level formation flying needed to klap under radar detection.

Communities located along the low level route include Groveport, Pickerington, Millersport, Laurelville, Leisville, Circleville, and Lockbourne. The route begins and terminates at Rickenbacker AFB. Residents along the route who have questions about low flying propeller-driven aircraft believed to be from Rickenbacker should contact the 302nd Information Office at 492-3981.

County To Get Share Of Recreation Funds

Gov. John J. Gilligan has announced that $164,095 in federal revenue sharing funds have been awarded to the state of Ohio for recreation and transportation support programs in 64 Ohio counties, including Pickaway County.

The grant will supplement the 1974 Summer Program for Economically Disadvantaged Youth (SPEDY). SPEDY provides economically disadvantaged youth, ages 14 to 22, with work opportunities under the recently enacted Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

The funds will be distributed and monitored by the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development, Manpower Development Division.

According to State Development Director David C. Sweet, $100,000 will be used to expand the "People to the Parks" program of the Department of Natural Resources. The program has been used to expose urban youth to rural areas of the state. The grant would enable the program to expose rural youth to an urban environment.

Sweet said $11,695 would be distributed to SPEDY subcontractors who include transportation support in their original contracts.

SPEDY subcontractors in cities with a population of 10,000 or more would receive a total of $52,400 for recreational services. The subcontractors will receive $1,000 to $4,000 each, depending on the population of the city.

Recreation and transportation support programs funded by the grant will be operated in the 64 Ohio counties which comprise the "balance of state" area.

Under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, units of government or combinations of units of government may become "prime sponsors" and request manpower revenue sharing funds. Units of government choosing not to become "prime sponsors" are part of the "balance of state" area with the state as the "prime sponsor." The state then contracts with the areas to deliver manpower services.

Chief Logan Bicentennial Set Oct. 5-6

Dedication of a memorial monument at the site of the famed Logan Elm will be one of the outstanding features of the Chief Logan Bicentennial celebration planned for Oct. 5 and 6. October will mark the 200th anniversary of Chief Logan's historic speech traditionally believed to have been spoken under the giant elm tree in response to Lord Dunmore's request that the chief sign a peace treaty.

The monument is being installed jointly by the Ohio Historical Society and the Pickaway County Historical Society. Local society president Robert P. Liggett announced that Daniel Porter and Reed Masse, director and landscape architect for the Ohio Historical Society have been invited to participate in the program.

A scenic bus tour will begin at the Pickaway County Historical Museum and will conclude at the Logan Elm Park. Several prominent Indian sites will be identified along the way and tour books will be available.

The Logan Elm ceremony is one of several activities in which the Pickaway County Historical Society will be engaged during the next two and a half years as the nation swings into various celebrations commemorating the 200th birthday of the United States.

For further information on the tour and reservations, contact Robert Liggett, president of the Pickaway County Historical Society.

Collins Testifies In Damage Suit

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. Oakley C. Collins, R-92 Ironton, testified in his own defense Thursday, saying he attempted to correct a landslide problem on the farm of plaintiffs Frank and Carrie Wagner.

Collins is one of the three defendants in a $200,000 damage suit against the Collins Mining Co., which has since ceased mining in the area.

The plaintiffs claim their land near Collins' strip mine operation was damaged by landslides in 1968 and 1969.

Collins said he built sediment dams to prevent the slides, but the Wagners contend the dams were inadequate.

This Is The Year

How economic forces are successful in changing public attitudes when government policies have failed to do the job is evident in two unrelated happenings. For years Washington has been pleading with Americans to "see America first" instead of spending all that cash on trips to other continents.

Many more Americans went traveling overseas than the number of foreign visitors coming here, as a result of which the outward flow of tourist dollars was hurting the nation's balance of payments. But despite all that Washington could do, short of prohibiting overseas travel, hundreds of thousands of Americans continued traveling abroad on non-business excursions.

It was a simple matter of economics. The dollar purchased more by comparison overseas. Not any more. Food and lodging prices in Europe and Japan have zoomed aloft like a rocket from Cape Canaveral. Excursion fares from the United States to Europe have gone up 25 per cent and more in the last year.

Now, in addition to the rudeness which has become the trademark of many European spas, Americans also can expect to be fleeced. The travel season this year is still young, but there are indications the word is being passed around that maybe 1974 would be a good time to begin "seeing America first."

A number of vacationers made that discovery a long time ago, but it is always nice to have new members along for the enjoyment.

In The Army--Voluntarily

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — James Montgomery Flagg's classic enlistment poster of World War I, showing Uncle Sam pointing a determined forefinger at the viewer and captioned, "I Want You!" made a snappy about-face this past year. So many young men and women figuratively pointed at Uncle Sam and said "We Want You!" that Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway was able to announce early this month that the new volunteer Army is a rousing success.

Few believed that was possible when the draft ended at the close of the war in Indochina. The consensus at that time was that the only volunteers would come from the ranks of the minorities, the poor, school dropouts and the business community's jobless misfits. And, even then, the ranks would not be filled.

Not so, Secretary Callaway reported with pride:

"The volunteer Army proved that it was a success by ending (its first fiscal year) in excess of its authorized strength of 781,600. This was achieved through a record of enlistments over 199,000 volunteers and the unusually high reenlistment of nearly 58,000 men and women.

"Our quality is good and within established standards, our combat readiness is up, we are on target with strength, and our disciplinary rate is within acceptable limits . . . I am proud to be a part of it."

Some 26,000 enlisted during June. Seventy per cent of them were high school graduates. Almost twice as many women (15,000) signed up last year as the year before. The Army is now 21 per cent black and of Hispanic-American origin.

The National Guard ended the year with 413,000, or 9 per cent above the authorized mark; the U.S. Army Reserve stood at 238,000, two per cent above authorized drill strength.

"As for readiness," Secretary Callaway's report concluded, "the Army readiness posture has improved from four divisions being combat ready shortly before the draft ended in 1973 to 13 divisions ready to fight today."

It's a new Army, notably in the way it trains and cares for its members. The drafted Army of World War II was paid coolie wages. Though infinitely larger, it was paid less and provided with less than today's Army. About $43 billion, half the defense Department's whopping peace-time budget, is now spent on salaries, better housing and educational opportunities for the volunteers and their families. Pay is up 30 per cent since the peak manpower level of the Vietnam war.

Old Army hands agree that there are as many reasons for the unexpected flood of volunteers:

Skill training and educational opportunities;

A desire on the part of the volunteer to become more mature and self-reliant;

Choice of stations or locations during the enlistment period; Chance to decide what to do later in life;

Travel; Leadership training; Patriotism; Being with people one can respect.

The attractiveness of the new Army was perhaps epitomized most clearly last month by an unusual "buddy enlistment." Buddies have been entering the armed services together since the days of the first voluntary American army — the Continental Army that was formed June 14, 1775, two years before it even had a flag.

Well, 199 years after the creation of the Continental Army (ten companies of riflemen), a 38-year-old man named Raymond Park accompanied his 18-year-old son, William, when the young man went to a recruiting station to find out what the new Army had to offer. Sgt. Ed Smith, the recruiter in charge that day, must have done a remarkable job.

When the recitation was finished, the boy said, "That sounds fine. I'll sign up."

"So will I," the father said.

They entered together June 27, at Harrisburg, Pa.

It's the second time around for Raymond Park, whose family lives in Eagles Mere, Pa. He had been out of the Army for 11 years, and had been working as a machinist with Litton Industries, Williamsport, Pa., since 1966.

Raymond Park joined under the Army's Stripes-for-Skills option, which gives him immediate advance rank for his experience. He started as Private First Class, E-3. Next month he will be assigned to Fort Sill, Okla., and be eligible for promotion to Sergeant, E-5. Since Park left the service in 1963, the monthly salary for E-5 has jumped from $186 to $486, plus allotments for housing and dependent care. Mrs. Park and their young daughter will join him at Fort Sill.

Except for love of country, it is not likely that Gen. George Custer — or Gen. George Washington — would have understood any of the above.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The public has an enormous stake in the planned offering of $850 million in securities by Citicorp, which is the parent of the First National City Bank, second largest in the nation.

Ordinarily a financing of this magnitude by a financial institution of that size would have little or no meaning to the mass of people. But this one has pocketbook significance that everyone can appreciate.

1. If plans proceed, it would provide relatively small savers and investors an opportunity to obtain some of those high interest rates they've been reading about but found difficult to obtain. Not the 6 or 7 per cent they've become accustomed to, but close to 10 per cent.

2. At the same time such an offering might draw savings from the thrift institutions — savings and loan associations and savings banks — and thus reduce the amount of mortgage loans available to home buyers.

If widely copied by other corporations, its critics contend, such money-raising techniques could so drain the nation's fund of mortgage money that the buying and selling of homes might all but cease.

Nobody knows this for certain, because this financing is an innovation into an unknown area.

It has startled many money men and banking and securities officials. It has dismayed the thrift institutions. It is attracting the admiration, and maybe the emulation, of other corporations fighting for funds in a tight-money economy.

First National City Bank, the largest member of Citicorp, couldn't have offered these notes because it is regulated by the Federal Reserve, which sets limits on the interest rates a bank may pay.

A Citicorp offering, however, would serve to sidestep this regulation. Not limited to a specified rate, it is offering 9.7 per cent, higher by far than any bank rate. And the funds will be available to the bank as if it had raised them itself.

That 9.7 rate under present plans would be guaranteed until June 1, 1975, and thereafter would float one point above the average Treasury bill rate. Beginning on June 1, 1976, the notes could be redeemed at six-month intervals.

High finance of this sort generally might be expected to be aimed at big savers or corporations. But after an initial purchase of $5,000, investors would be able to buy notes in $1,000 denominations. That's the kind of money the thrifths feel is theirs.

The Circleville Community Mission was expanding. Property adjacent to the present mission building was purchased to broaden the activities of the mission on Lowery Lane. The expansion was approved by the mission's board of trustees. The new property, and house and lot, were to be used for sewing classes, handicrafts, cooking classes, manual arts, Sunday School rooms, and storage space for items collected in clothing and material drives.

A weekend of thundershowers was a welcome relief to area residents and farming interests but did little to equal the monthly or yearly average of precipitation. Pickaway still lagged behind the average monthly rainfall by .29 inches and 3.77 inches behind the yearly average. Near drought reduced the Scioto River to its lowest ebb of 2.03 feet.

First Methodist Church was planning a Jubilee to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone. A banquet and numerous services were planned.

The Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce insect control drive was in full swing throughout the city. More than half the city had been fogged and persons in the treated areas reported that they could eat and enjoy the outside without being bothered with annoying insects.

LAFF - A - DAY

"How come the LIGHT things are always in the right place?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

We are constantly warned that aspirin can cause ulcers and bleeding in the stomach. Although I don't have such a problem I worry because I take a considerable amount of aspirin for my arthritis. Does this mean that I am heading for trouble?

Mrs. G.S., Minn.

Dear Mrs. S.: Many readers have expressed concern about this problem.

Aspirin is probably one of the most frequently used drugs for the relief of pain. But there are side effects from aspirin that must be considered for any long-term use.

One of the most frequent problems is that it increases bleeding tendencies because it interferes with the clotting mechanism of the blood.

It is also thought that it may be responsible for ulcers of the stomach and the small intestines, especially in those people who have a tendency towards these conditions.

In the light of this knowledge, an exhaustive study was reported in the New England Journal of Medicine. Dr. Misha Levy, at the Boston University Medical Center, studied 25,000 patients who were admitted to Boston hospitals in an effort to clarify this problem. The conclusion: "Patients with a known history of stomach or intestinal ulcer should, as a precautionary measure, not take aspirin or aspirin-containing products."

On the other hand, the report states, in the absence of an ulcer history, there is no need to completely eliminate the use of aspirin from "a patient who desperately requires the relief provided by this excellent analgesic (pain reliever)."

In the light of these findings, you should not stop taking aspirin because of your fear that you are "heading for trouble."

You can be certain that your physician is completely aware of the side effects of this remarkable drug and would not suggest that you continue its use if there was a danger to your health.

All drugs carry the possibility of some side effects. The value of a drug is always measured against its potential disadvantages.

Before anyone embarks on a long-term concentrated use of aspirin, or aspirin-containing products, discussion with one's doctor about its use is essential.

A Lot Of Mahoney

By JIM BISHOP

Nobody loved Larry Fay. Somebody ased his mother and she took the fifth. Mr. Fay was a boozing, brawling Broadwayite whose hobby was owning things. He owned the El Fay night club and he owned Texas Guinan, who sold watery booze and yelled "Hello sucker!" to the customers.

He owned a fleet of taxicabs and Mr. Fay underpaid the drivers and overcharged the customers. If he was forced to bring flowers to the funeral of a buddy, you may be sure he stole them from a grave.

One day Mr. Fay was sitting thinking of ways of swearing off things — like paying his income tax. Someone walked in and fired a single shot right through his big nose. In the morgue, the reporters said Larry looked surprised.

The New York cops were given the job of finding Fay's final friend. The homicide bureau couldn't put heart in it. Whoever it was, nobody wanted to find him. The only witnesses were a bartender — who insisted that he had been polishing glasses, even after he heard the big boom — and one of Mr. Fay's empty chorus girls; he used her head for a piggy bank.

She was very nervous. Over and over, she said it was "Mahoney, I tell you." No first name, just "Mahoney." The Manhattan directory had 496 Mahoney's, starting with Aloysius and closing with Xavier. It was not a difficult case because nobody worked at it. Broadway had a nice funeral for Mr. Fay. Some of the mourners used his cabs, with the flags down out of respect.

Time moved on, which is its worst habit. In hotels, the staff celebrates New Years on New Years Day, after the last drunk has been swept into his horn. Mr. Neal Lang, who is America's most celebrated hotel director, was sitting in the Park Sheraton having one at a time with his boss, a man with the unlikely name of Rabbit.

The conversation was slow, the drinks were fast and Rabbit mentioned that the police were looking for somebody named Mahoney. They weren't looking hard, but they would like to close the file on Mr. Larry Fay.

Neal Lang, whose memory is the envy of elephants, said he had an old schoolmate in Room 409 called Zip, who was giving bed space to a busted buddy named Mahoney. Rabbit said there were a million Mahoneys.

And yet, Lang, who grew up in Ossining (outside the walls of Sing Sing), took a pass key to Room 409. It was empty of people but there was a loaded revolver on a night table, an empty bottle of whiskey, and a few soiled shirts marked J.H.M.

Could be Mahoney. Could be the wrong Mahoney. Mr. Lang, whose attire and decorum make diplomats look like slob, has never felt an urgent call to solve a murder. This goes double for a hood like Fay whose confreres were averse to solving murders, even their own.

Lang went back to Mr. Rabbit with gun, bottle and monogrammed shirts. Rabbit said Neal had made a bad, bad mistake. Lang lugged them back, placing each item where he had found it, when he heard a key in the door. Age is like a freeze frame in a movie. It comes suddenly and remains forever.

It was the maid. Mr. Lang resumed breathing and went to his office and phoned Zip at his folks' home in Ossining. "It's none of my business," Lang said, "but didn't you tell me about a guy named Mahoney?"

Zip said he was sorry; he didn't like to get the hotel involved, but Mahoney had been working for Larry Fay. Fay fired him, owing $90 in back pay. Mahoney asked for it, but Fay didn't even smile. "Try and collect it, kid," he said. "Keep trying and someday I will lose my patience and break every bone in your head."

Mahoney returned to Zip's room with a gun, drank a bottle of whiskey, and left. He had walked up to Fay in front of a bartender and a girl and put all his lights out.

Lang arranged for Mahoney to surrender at 11 a.m. in front of Carnegie Hall. The chief inspector had a son who was a patrolman and wanted to make detective third class. So Zip and the cop waited. Mahoney never showed.

Down at Canal and Broadway a traffic cop was standing in the middle of the street in the rain, waving trucks onward. Mahoney, drunk and disorderly, walked up to him and said, "I'm Mahoney. I wanna surrender." The cop said, "Get out of the rain, kid." "I killed Larry Fay," Mahoney said. "Big deal," the policeman said. "Beat it or I'll run you in for obstructing traffic."

That's how they got Mahoney. Neal Lang decided it was a good time to see Europe. Zip zapped. Mahoney spent four years in a private room with bars. Fay, whose estate paid $3,000 for the funeral, should have paid the $90. All he got out of it was a nose job . . .

About 85 billion Lincoln pennies have been minted since 1909.

The Pennsylvania Dutch sometimes adorn a small, bare tree with Easter eggs, a custom their forefathers may have brought with them from Europe.

Price Remarketing By Supermarkets Comes Under Fire

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The practice of remarketing items on the supermarket shelves as prices go up, a practice that Safeway Stores Inc. says it is stopping, is one of consumers' pet peeves.

"Walk into any supermarket and ask any consumer and they'll scream about it," said Ellen Zawell, president of the National Consumer Congress.

Safeway, the nation's largest chain, announced Wednesday that it would no longer remark an item to reflect higher wholesale costs on new shipments.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Was Diogenes A Male Chauvinist Pig?

DEAR ABBY: A Southern gentleman fell for a real estate woman and courted her in style. He took her to New York (separate rooms) and showed her a wonderful time. He even took her to a jewelry store, hoping she'd select some rings, but she selected a diamond wristwatch instead. All this time he didn't lay a hand on her because he wanted her to know that he was a true Southern gentleman with honorable intentions.

After the trip, the lady returned the diamond watch, saying she couldn't marry him because the "chemistry" wasn't right.

Abby that lady is out of her tree! Please send me the gentleman's address. I'm a female chemist who can MAKE the chemistry right. Sign me....
"MADAME CURIE IN A HURRY"

DEAR MADAME: The real estate lady may be out of her tree in Paradise Valley, Ariz. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for that woman who returned the diamond wristwatch, telling the gentleman she couldn't marry him because the chemistry wasn't right. Assuming Diogenes isn't a male chauvinist pig, and therefore will settle for an honest woman-he can quit looking.

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading about the 80-year-old man who looks 60 and dances around like Fred Astaire whenever there is music.

I knew you would say, "Let him have his fun and be glad he has his health." You almost always let the older generation do what they want. If that letter had been from a mother complaining about her teen-age daughter, you would have said, "Tell her if she can't act like a lady, she should stay home."

My father is 60 and looks like he is 80, but he conducts himself in a manner fitting the occasion.

If that woman lets her father go to the wedding and act like a donkey that will make two of them there.

SATURDAY REFRESHER

Virginia Henkart's wafers and iced tea.

Virginia Henkart's Wafers

Fine recipe from a Port Washington, N.Y., hostess.

2 large egg whites
Pinch of salt
1-3rd cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter, melted and cooled
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-3rd cup packaged thinly sliced blanched or natural almonds

Beat the egg whites and salt until frothy. Gradually beat in the sugar a little at a time and continue to beat until mixture holds stiff peaks. Sprinkle the flour over the mixture, folding it in as you do so. Add the butter and vanilla and fold in until blended. Fold in the almonds. Drop rounded teaspoonfuls of the batter at least 3 inches apart onto a buttered and floured cookie sheet; with a small metal spatula flatten each mound into a 2½-inch round; bake only 4 to 6 wafers on a large cookie sheet at one time, otherwise there will be too many to handle before they harden. With a wide metal spatula remove a wafer and at once roll it up with your fingers and place seam side down on a wire rack; quickly treat other wafers the same way. Makes about 32.

Luncheon For Two

Shrimp salad, rolls, strawberry soup.

Strawberry Soup

In spite of its name, it's a beverage.

1 cup fresh strawberries
¼ cup clover honey
¼ cup commercial sour cream
¾ cup cold water
½ cup dry red wine

Turn all the ingredients into an electric blender and whirl until liquefied. There will be tiny seeds visible but straining is not necessary. Chill. Stir well before serving. Nice served in glass punch cups or footed glasses for sipping without spoons. Makes about 2 cups.

The 54th annual Department of Ohio American Legion Auxiliary Convention was held July 12, 13, 14 with meetings in the Neil House Motor Hotel, Columbus. Mrs. George E. Sallot, department president, presided.

The processional for the opening session of the convention was held 9 a.m. Friday. Call to order by Mrs. Sallot was followed by advancement of colors, invocation by Mrs. Glenn F. Horton, department chaplain, Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States by Mrs. Charles E. Williams, Unit 25, Seventh District, serving this year as department Americanism chairman; "National Anthem" sung by the assembly; Preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion Auxiliary; welcome by Mrs. Leroy Green, response by Mrs. Henry F. Patro, department treasurer; credential report by Mrs. Herman Ramsey followed by rules and order of business.

All department officers, district presidents and past department presidents were presented followed by greetings from David A. Cropper, department of Ohio commander of the American Legion, all other department Legion officers and their wives.

Reports and awards were heard from all department chairman during the three day sessions covering the many programs carried out by the Auxiliary each year. Mrs. B. M. Jarrett, national president of the auxiliary, Ohio's most distinguished guest, was presented and spoke Saturday afternoon. She told of her many trips during the past year and even though she did not speak the language of many of the countries she visited, there seemed to be no communication barrier because the auxiliary's interest and concern of the problems the people were facing had been at work to help correct them. The people were so anxious to show her how the materials, help and money had been put to good use, that when she did express her appreciation of their warm welcome with a smile, it spoke a volume of words. She spoke at length of the coming National Convention in Hollywood, Fla., in August.

John Brown, Lt. Governor of Ohio, brought greetings on Sunday morning following the joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary at the Memorial Service 8 a.m. at Sheraton-Columbus Motor Hotel which he attended. He expressed his admiration and appreciation of all the auxiliary does in the state. He said how proud he was of all the young ladies who attend Buckeye Girls State and all the people who devote their time to see that the girls go away more knowledgeable of what it takes to make government work. He said we are living in very serious times and everyone must help and rededicate ourselves with the pledge to be Americans 365 days a year.

The 1975 state officers elected Saturday were: Mrs. Robert E. Riley, president, from Unit 417 Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Jack Balzhiser, Milford, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Patro, Toledo, second vice president and Mrs. Billy E. Peoples, Bradford, treasurer.

Delegates representing Unit 134 were Eleanor Moss, Betty Sabine, Lucile Pickel and Mary Stephens.

This year's Woman of the Year is Ethel Siegle, shown receiving a plaque and bouquet of red and white carnations from Mrs. Rolland Featheringham.

Migrants Help, Hinder New Jersey

SWEDESBORO, N.J. (AP) — About a third come from Puerto Rico, their island in the sun. They left there dead broke, hoping one day to return.

Thousands of other migrant farm workers follow the harvests along the East Coast, their children and belongings jammed into battered vehicles resembling those used by the Okies when they went to California 40 years ago.

They pick tomatoes, cucumbers, you name it. They work and sweat and work some more. And buy their food at the company store.

They have helped New Jersey maintain its nickname, "Garden State" but their plight has given the state a black eye.

The "migrant problem" flared into public view earlier this week when State Assemblyman Byron Baer's arm was broken in a melee at the Sorbello migrant farm in this southern New Jersey community. Baer has advocated improved living conditions for migrants.

A Newark Star-Ledger reporter also was beaten.

Baer had gone there to get a rare glimpse inside a New Jersey migrant labor farm. But Marcos Portalatin, the Sorbello foreman accused of breaking Baer's arm, told The Associated Press the 11 workers there don't like "nosey" state officials.

"These people don't come here to help us," he said. "They come here to destroy us and the farmer. If we didn't like working here, we wouldn't be here."

Angel Sanabre, 21, who supports a wife and two children in Puerto Rico, said the workers "get along just like brothers."

Michael Sorbello, one of three owners, contends "publicity seekers like Baer" are just out to make political hay, rather than help the workers.

But among the 20,000 migrants in southern New Jersey, there is considerable discontent.

The State Department of Labor and Industry reported this week that hundreds of workers are children under age 12, a violation of law.

—Commissioner Joseph A. Hoffman says a number of farmers fail to keep employee records of hours worked and wages paid.

Sorbello workers earn $2.13 an hour. But on many other farms, the legal minimum—$1.75—or less is paid.

—Over the years there have been charges, often raised in lawsuits, of filthy living conditions, inadequate heat and lighting, exorbitant prices at "company stores" and outright brutality.

—Many migrants are recruited in Puerto Rico and come here under contract. They have little or no political clout.

Sorbello contends politicians who court the migrants are accomplishing nothing.

"Why don't they help the workers in the cities, the dishwashers who make $1.75 an hour?" he said. He noted that migrant workers are provided with free housing, while the impoverished urbanites pay rent.

New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne has called for a full investigation of the Baer incident. Byrne also said he plans to visit farms in the area next month.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Many of our regular patrons make the remark, "I had to stop in to pick up some reading for my vacation." What a good idea! There's no better way to relax than with a good book. This is the right time to try it.

This week offers a reader's gourmet choice for Non-Fiction lovers. Five new biographies will be in the new books area. They run the gamut from queen to medium. "Queen Katherine Parr" by Anthony Martienssen is the story of Henry VIII's sixth wife. She was the wife clever enough to retain her crown through the treacherous shoals of Tudor politics. She even managed to keep her head long enough to survive the King. Another biography of a strong character involved in politics is Samuel Edward's "Rebel". It's the life of Tom Paine and his influence on public opinion during the American Revolution. Closer to modern politics is the strange career of E. Howard Hunt done by Tad Szulc in "Compulsive Spy". It develops the route by which the subject travelled to become known as the "dirty trick" operator at the White House. Far removed from political turmoil is the warm, intimate biography of Buckmaster Fuller by his friend Alden Hatch. "Buckmaster Fuller at Home In The Universe" is the biography of a man of ideas whose time is arriving. It stresses the very human qualities of this scientist, inventor, poet and engineer. Allen Angoff has written "Eileen Garrett And The World Beyond The Senses." Miss Garrett has been labeled the greatest medium of the Twentieth Century. This is the full account of her unique work.

For a look back at one of history's blemishes, "Voyage Of The Damned" by Thomas and Morgan will give the reader an informative and provocative insight into the voyage of the liner St. Louis in May 1939. It is the shocking tale of the last ship to leave Nazi Germany before WW II erupted. The plight of the 937 Jewish refugees she carried is the basis of the story. Looking farther back into time and history, Robin Reilly gives us "The British At The Gates." It's the highly readable account of the New Orleans campaign in the War of 1812. Since November 22, 1963, there has been speculation on the assassination of John Kennedy. David Belin, a Warren Commission lawyer, has written "Nov. 22, 1963: You Are The Jury." In it, he discusses the evidence gathered in this historical crime and its significance to the solution of the case.

Health is becoming a popular subject among readers. Two new offerings deal with the heart. "Type A Behavior and Your Heart" is written by Drs. M. Friedman and R. Rosenman, Cardiologists. In it, they explore their discovery that the primary cause of heart disease is a behavior pattern which they have called Type A. "Code Arrest: A Heart Stop." by Dr. E. B. Diethrich is directed to understanding the attack being made on heart disease. It's a realistic account of medical-surgical methods now being used in diagnosis and treatment. "The Doctor's Guide To Better Tennis And Health." By Dr. C. A. Frazier is written for the weekend tennis player but the health tips given could benefit anyone. Joy Herrick has a new one called "Something's Got To Help And Yoga Can." It's written especially for women. A different approach to the business of medicine is to be found in "Beyond Medicine" by Hans Holzer. It discusses in an interesting manner the facts of psychic healing.

"Helen Corbitt Cooks For Company" and "Delicious Diet Cookbook" should appeal to the culinary artists. "Fishing" by Joseph Bates, Jr. is a complete guide to tackle and tactics for fresh and salt water fishing. Read this one before you go to the ole fishin' hole! If you're just planning to sit on the bank and crochet, "Crochet And Creative Design" by Annette Feldman has new ideas for creating your own thing. Another new one is good for gals living alone. "Guide To Home Repairs Without A Man" is by Bernard Gladstone.

Louise Hillary, wife of the explorer, has written a warm and witty account of their travels. In "High Time", you meet a charming family, their Sherpa friends and some of the most scenic and rugged country in the world. For some serious in-depth reading, titles include "Children Of The Universe" by Don Dillfurth. "A Home For The Heart" by Bruno Bettelheim is the story of a different kind of school for emotionally disturbed children. "Four Reforms" by William F. Buckley, Jr. outlines a program for the 70's. "Management And The Activity Trap" by G. S. Odion discusses the root of errors in business. "Women And Success" is a collection of essays assessing the many problems of women in relation to professional achievement. Daniel Calahan's "The Tyranny Of Survival" probes man and modern technology. "Escape From Childhood" by John Holt is a discussion on the needs and rights of children. "Will It Grow In A Classroom?" is a collection of ideas written by teachers about teaching and addressed to teachers. "How To Be Your Own Best Friend" by Newman and Berkowitz is a dialogue on inner freedom. "Life Is Forever" by the psychic Susy Smith presents evidence for life after death. The Nursing home industry is exposed in "Tender Loving Greed" by Mary Mendelson while Michael Wheeler discusses the need for divorce reform in "No-Fault Divorce". "Widow" by Lynn Caine is a personal account but slanted toward the more liberated woman. The havoc faced by many caught up in alcoholism is the subject of "A Sensitive, Passionate Man." by Barbara Mahoney. "Charlie Simpson's Apocalypse" by Joe Eszterhas is a moving true story of one town's experience with the generation gap. Jessamyn West has a new book of poems entitled "The Secret Look."

This week's bill of fare should certainly whet the appetites of non-fiction readers. Come in soon.

Solons Have To Check Own Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's legislature, like any other organization that has a set of rules, has to go thumbing through them from time to time to see how to operate.

A prime example was when members of a joint conference committee studying state appropriations realized that even if they reached agreement, there might be no one around to act on it.

It was a complicated situation that resulted from an adjournment resolution the lawmakers passed before they went into summer recess. It limited sessions during the recess to two days—July 9 and Sept. 10.

The idea had been that if the committee agreed on a bill, leaders could announce a full session on either of those dates. But on July 8, Gov. John J. Gilligan announced an $80.5 million budget surplus—ruling out any chance of an agreement or a floor session on July 9.

It was pointed out that Sept. 10 wouldn't do either, since school districts figuring to benefit from additional funds have to approve operating budgets by then.

Leaders were on the verge of calling back the full membership, or at least a quorum of the Senate and House, to amend the resolution.

Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, proposed having the resolution amended by skeleton sessions of the two chambers. "We approve other resolutions this way, why can't we act on this one, too?", he asked, and it was done.

Some legislators said they questioned the procedure, and wondered if it could stand the test of a challenge. They said the "other resolutions" alluded to were the congratulatory type, the kind "no one ever objects to."

Former astronaut John H. Glenn is getting some help from history, as expected, in his campaign against Republican Ralph Perk for U.S. senator from Ohio.

The July 4 holiday brought thousands to the U.S. Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, where a space display includes a color film that highlights Glenn's historic orbit of the earth, along with more recent space adventures.

The sound film appears to be a major attraction.

There may still be hope for legislation to control the use of computers to collect and dispense private information about Ohio's citizens.

Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, is asking for a Legislative Service Commission study of the problem, calling personal privacy "the cornerstone of the American system."

Gillmor's colleagues—at least on the face of it—didn't reflect those sentiments earlier this year when they rejected 21-10 a regulation bill by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

Lobbyists for credit institutions and others contended generally that the measure went too far. Gillmor said he hopes a full study will provide enough information to produce a bill with the proper balance.

Gubernatorial Candidate James A. Rhodes is putting some extra effort into a grassroots fund raising drive in hopes it will fly. Jerrie Mock, Columbus' world-girdling aviatrix, is secretary and treasurer of the drive.

Rhodes, Republican former governor, prepared 200,000 $10 pledge cards and is mailing them to 20,000 Ohioans. The aim is to have each recipient collect ten $10 pledges for his campaign.

Grant Will Provide

Cervical Cancer Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $900,000 grant to the Ohio Department of Health will make cervical cancer tests and follow-up services available to more Ohio women, Department of Health Director John W. Cashman said Tuesday.

Cashman said the National Cancer Institute awarded the grant to the state for a three-year period.

Services will be provided through local health departments and family planning agencies and will be focused on low-income women.

LIFE IS FULL OF QUESTIONS

One of the most common we spell with just three letters, W-H-Y.

As children we want to know the reason for everything. Why is snow cold, or sugar sweet? We grow into adolescence and the question is usually linked with restrictions: Why can't I? In maturity there are more and greater problems to solve, troubles and disappointments to overcome. And still we ask the age-old question, "Why?"

The Church knows our questions and our problems and invites us to come, bringing them with us.

In the Church we find new friends. Many of them have known sorrows and disappointments and through their faith have found courage. They will inspire us to try again.

Still more important we can learn to know the Christ. In His Divine wisdom He holds the answers to life's questions. In His love He invites all who need His help.

Church Exemptions Remain In Effect

NEW YORK (AP) — "Taxes on church donations?" "Tax exempt status in jeopardy." These are recent headlines from fringe religious periodicals, but despite the scare notes, no such proposals are presently before the U.S. Congress.

Any idea of abolishing the tax deductibility of gifts to churches, schools and other philanthropic institutions is "dead, cold and buried," says a staff member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Regardless of the actual situation, however, reports have circulated widely in recent months in church, college and university circles that contributions to them were about to be made non-deductible from federal income taxes.

The claims have stirred a tide of protests to congressmen, and inquiries to educational and church offices in the nation's capital.

Such ill-founded outcries "could result in a situation dangerously close to that of the boy who cried wolf," causing church people to be ignored even when they have a valid case, says the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, of Washington, D.C.

Its research director, John Baker, says that "during the past few months rumors — based on half-truths and untruths — have spread through the country" that congress is about to act on tax measures that would remove the deductibility of charitable gifts and require ministers to pay taxes on housing allowances.

He says an extensive check shows that Congress, in the foreseeable future, has no plans or intentions to do either.

While it is proper for the churches to speak up on public policies affecting them, he says, they should be sure their actions are "based on solid information and hard facts."

"Hearsay, rumor, scare tactics, fantasy and imagination are poor bases on which to launch church action," he adds.

What apparently gave rise to the rumors were some bills introduced, but which never were scheduled for hearings, got nowhere and were soon dropped.

No Turk-Greek Clash Seen Over Situation On Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military officials believe an armed clash between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus is unlikely, despite military moves by the Turks.

They acknowledge, however, there might be danger if the two rival countries should move to reinforce their small garrisons, currently totaling fewer than 1,000 men each on Cyprus.

Pentagon officials note the Greek armed forces have not made any major moves since the new Cyprus crisis broke out early this week. They also interpret Turkish military actions so far as intended to demonstrate their readiness and to show concern for the safety and welfare of the Turkish minority on Cyprus.

The Turks threatened to invade Cyprus during the last such crisis in 1967. The United States and the United Nations worked out a political settlement at the time.

The latest crisis has prompted a trip to London by U.S. Undersecretary of State Joseph J. Sisco. He left Wednesday night for the British capital where ousted Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios has been conferring with British leaders.

In the United States, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger canceled today's appearance before the House Foreign Relations Committee, which he was to brief about the recent Moscow summit. But Kissinger still intended to fly, as scheduled before the Cypriot crisis, to San Clemente, Calif.,

for a meeting with President Nixon.

Some of Turkey's recent moves have drawn close Pentagon attention.

Reports reaching the Defense Department say the Turks have loaded weapons on some of their U.S.-built F100 fighter bombers and placed their pilots on one-hour alert. These planes are based in Incirlik in Southern Turkey, about 200 air miles from the Cypriot capital of Nicosia.

If the Turks should attempt to send forces into Cyprus, they most likely would use their parachute brigade. The Turkish air force has a small fleet of about 50 transport planes, including U.S.-provided C130s.

Solons Have To Check Own Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's legislature, like any other organization that has a set of rules, has to go thumbing through them from time to time to see how to operate.

A prime example was when members of a joint conference committee studying state appropriations realized that even if they reached agreement, there might be no one around to act on it.

It was a complicated situation that resulted from an adjournment resolution the lawmakers passed before they went into summer recess. It limited sessions during the recess to two days—July 9 and Sept. 10.

The idea had been that if the committee agreed on a bill, leaders could announce a full session on either of those dates. But on July 8, Gov. John J. Gilligan announced an $80.5 million budget surplus—ruling out any chance of an agreement or a floor session on July 9.

It was pointed out that Sept. 10 wouldn't do either, since school districts figuring to benefit from additional funds have to approve operating budgets by then.

Leaders were on the verge of calling back the full membership, or at least a quorum of the Senate and House, to amend the resolution.

Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, proposed having the resolution amended by skeleton sessions of the two chambers. "We approve other resolutions this way, why can't we act on this one, too?" he asked, and it was done.

Some legislators said they questioned the procedure, and wondered if it could stand the test of a challenge. They said the "other resolutions" alluded to were the congratulatory type, the kind "no one ever objects to."

There may still be hope for legislation to control the use of computers to collect and dispense private information about Ohio's citizens.

Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, is asking for a Legislative Service Commission study of the problem, calling personal privacy "the cornerstone of the American system."

Gillmor's colleagues—at least on the face of it—didn't reflect those sentiments earlier this year when they rejected 21-10 a regulation bill by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

Lobbyists for credit institutions and others contended generally that the measure went too far. Gillmor said he hopes a full study will provide enough information to produce a bill with the proper balance.

Gubernatorial Candidate James A. Rhodes is putting some extra effort into a grassroots fund raising drive in hopes it will fly. Jerrie Mock, Columbus' world-girdling aviatrix, is secretary and treasurer of the drive.

Rhodes, Republican former governor, prepared 200,000 $10 pledge cards and is mailing them to 20,000 Ohioans. The aim is to have each recipient collect ten $10 pledges for his campaign.

Grant Will Provide

Cervical Cancer Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $900,000 grant to the Ohio Department of Health will make cervical cancer tests and follow-up services available to more Ohio women, Department of Health Director John W. Cashman said Tuesday.

Cashman said the National Cancer Institute awarded the grant to the state for a three-year period.

Services will be provided through local health departments and family planning agencies and will be focused on low-income women.

LIFE IS FULL OF QUESTIONS

One of the most common we spell with just three letters, W-H-Y.

As children we want to know the reason for everything. Why is snow cold, or sugar sweet? We grow into adolescence and the question is usually linked with restrictions: Why can't I? In maturity there are more and greater problems to solve, troubles and disappointments to overcome. And still we ask the age-old question, "Why?"

The Church knows our questions and our problems and invites us to come, bringing them with us.

In the Church we find new friends. Many of them have known sorrows and disappointments and through their faith have found courage. They will inspire us to try again.

Still more important we can learn to know the Christ. In His Divine wisdom He holds the answers to life's questions. In His love He invites all who need His help.

Church Exemptions Remain In Effect

NEW YORK (AP) — "Taxes on church donations?" "Tax exempt status in jeopardy." These are recent headlines from fringe religious periodicals, but despite the scare notes, no such proposals are presently before the U.S. Congress.

Any idea of abolishing the tax deductibility of gifts to churches, schools and other philanthropic institutions is "dead, cold and buried," says a staff member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Regardless of the actual situation, however, reports have circulated widely in recent months in church, college and university circles that contributions to them were about to be made nondeductible from federal income taxes.

The claims have stirred a tide of protests to congressmen, and inquiries to educational and church offices in the nation's capital.

Such ill-founded outcries "could result in a situation dangerously close to that of the boy who cried wolf," causing church people to be ignored even when they have a valid case, says

the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, of Washington, D.C.

Its research director, John Baker, says that "during the past few months rumors — based on half-truths and untruths — have spread through the country" that congress is about to act on tax measures that would remove the deductibility of charitable gifts and require ministers to pay taxes on housing allowances.

He says an extensive check shows that Congress, in the foreseeable future, has no plans or intentions to do either.

While it is proper for the churches to speak up on public policies affecting them, he says, they should be sure their actions are "based on solid information and hard facts."

"Hearsay, rumor, scare tactics, fantasy and imagination are poor bases on which to launch church action," he adds.

What apparently gave rise to the rumors were some bills introduced, but which never were scheduled for hearings, got nowhere and were soon dropped.

Double-Decker Buses Open Free Shuttle In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Four double-decker buses from England have started free shuttle service here and nearly everybody seems happy.

City officials are pleased, and so are shoppers and the bank which bought the buses in London, had them refurbished and shipped them to Milwaukee.

But not so the Milwaukee and Suburban Transport Co., which operates the regular bus system here.

"It's the wrong approach," said Henry W. Mayer, the company's vice president and general manager. "They should charge a fare. That would mean the State Public Service Commission could regulate them."

The company claims the free bus service, with which the Midland National Bank hopes to get more people downtown, will cut sharply into a prime revenue area.

The Public Service Commission has refused to declare the shuttle bus system a "common carrier." It says that since no fare is charged, the buses do not come under its regulations.

The transport company has appealed the PSC's action to the Dane County Circuit Court in Madison.

"It's a matter of setting a precedent here," Mayer said. "What's to stop them from extending the service another six blocks in both directions?"

David Mengedoth, a Midland senior vice president, said public reaction to the buses has been "just fine, terrific. There's been lots of good response. When you ride the buses you can see a lot of approving looks from people on the street."

The buses operate from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays along a nine-block stretch of the main downtown thoroughfare.

A total of 3,302 persons took advantage of the free rides on Monday when they were first placed in service.

Mengedoth said the 56-passenger buses cost the bank "in excess of $40,000" and are expected to cost about $10,000 a month to operate.

But the transport company feels it will be a big loser. The firm, which charges 50 cents a ride, has been seeking an increase to 60 cents to cover a deficit.

Mayer said the Midland shuttles will mean at least a $50,000 annual loss in downtown ridership.

No Turk-Greek Clash Seen Over Situation On Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military officials believe an armed clash between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus is unlikely, despite military moves by the Turks.

They acknowledge, however, there might be danger if the two rival countries should move to reinforce their small garrisons, currently totaling fewer than 1,000 men each on Cyprus.

Pentagon officials note the Greek armed forces have not made any major moves since the new Cyprus crisis broke out early this week. They also interpret Turkish military actions so far as intended to demonstrate their readiness and to show concern for the safety and welfare of the Turkish minority on Cyprus.

The Turks threatened to invade Cyprus during the last such crisis in 1967. The United States and the United Nations worked out a political settlement at the time.

The latest crisis has prompted a trip to London by U.S. Undersecretary of State Joseph J. Sisco. He left Wednesday night for the British capital where ousted Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios has been conferring with British leaders.

In the United States, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger canceled today's appearance before the House Foreign Relations Committee, which he was to brief about the recent Moscow summit. But Kissinger still intended to fly, as scheduled before the Cypriot crisis, to San Clemente, Calif., for a meeting with President Nixon.

Some of Turkey's recent moves have drawn close Pentagon attention.

Reports reaching the Defense Department say the Turks have loaded weapons on some of their U.S.-built F100 fighter bombers and placed their pilots on one-hour alert. These planes are based in Incirlik in Southern Turkey, about 200 air miles from the Cypriot capital of Nicosia.

If the Turks should attempt to send forces into Cyprus, they most likely would use their parachute brigade. The Turkish air force has a small fleet of about 50 transport planes, including U.S.-provided C130s.

Postal Service Hit By Lawsuit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An 18-year veteran of the U.S. Postal Service sued the service in U.S. District Court here Wednesday, charging that it discriminates against white employees by granting promotions to less qualified blacks.

Leyle E. Crayton of Cleveland said that although he passed the service's promotion test in 1970, blacks who scored lower than he did have been promoted while he remained at his $12,500-a-year clerk's job.

Crayton filed a class action on behalf of more than 200 white postal employees.

New Jetport Not Wanted

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—Portage County commissioners have told the Lake Erie Regional Transportation Authority they don't want a jetport in their county.

The transportation authority said last week the Ravenna Ordnance plant had been picked as a prime site for a jetport if an inland location were selected.

The federal government put a damper on the proposal by saying it won't release the land for a jetport.

Now, the county commissioners have made it clear they don't want any other undeveloped land in the county used for a jetport.

County Commissioner John Carson said Thursday a jetport would place additional financial burden on the county. He said additional funds would be needed for water, sewage and police protection but he fears the jetport would be tax exempt, cutting down on revenues.

Owners, Players Meet To Bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the National Football League owners and striking players met again at the bargaining table today amid statements by both sides dripping with acrimony.

Federal mediator James Searce called for resumption of negotiations Thursday in an effort to resolve the labor dispute and end the 19-day old strike.

During the past two days, harsh words were exchanged between the owners and the players over violation of an apparent agreement made with the federal mediator that substantive positions not be discussed in the news media.

The owners yelled "foul" Wednesday after the NFL Players Association held a news conference and proposed around-the-clock negotiations.

The union also said that, failing a negotiated settlement, the economic issues should be submitted to binding arbitration and the controversial so-called freedom issues should be presented to a blue ribbon panel that would make factual determinations and recommendations.

The owners countered Thursday by holding a news conference during which they offered a total contract proposal, which John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, called the "largest money package ever offered in sports."

Bill Curry, union president, then issued a statement in which he said the proposal "is not a serious response to our demands."

"We will be at the bargaining table tomorrow (Friday) morning and continue to look forward to a response to our proposals with respect to the players' freedom," he said.

The freedom issues, which include elimination of the option and reserve clause, have been the major stumbling bloc in the negotiations that began March 21.

Thompson said the owners' offer, which would run to Sept. 15, 1978, would be worth almost $12.5 million in preseason salaries, pensions, insurance and Pro Bowl pay.

Under the proposal, players choosing to play out their options will do so at full salary, compared to the present level of 90 per cent. It also calls for an additional sum per year equal to 10 per cent of a players' base salary to be paid during the preseason period in equal weekly installments beginning the day on which a club's veterans are scheduled to report. This is subject to a minimum increase of $3,000 for veterans and a maximum salary of $10,000.

Minimum salary of $16,000 including preseason for veterans and $14,000 for rookies is also offered.

No mention of the freedom demands were made. In a letter to Searce, Thompson said, "to the extent the demands of the union are not incorporated in our proposed collective bargaining agreement, they are rejected."

Willie's Dillies

By A BENCHWARMER

Daniel A. Campbell has the right idea and we'd like to share it with you . . .

"I am writing in regard to an incident at a little league game at Ted Lewis Park in which one coach was thrown out of the game and a number of parents became angry to the point of threatening the umpire."

"The cause of the incident and even the incident itself become irrelevant in light of the effect this type of situation has upon the boys involved. They are the ultimate losers because they are looking to their coaches and parents for their own standard of conduct both on and off the field."

"My purpose is not to condemn anyone but rather to charge coaches and parents not to lose sight of the goals of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program, namely to provide enjoyable recreation for young men and boys, to teach them the fundamentals of baseball, and perhaps most important of all, to help them to formulate a system of values they will take with them when they walk off the field."

"I would also remind coaches and parents that our umpires are volunteering their time and energy to help the program and are without exception doing the best job they are capable of doing. Furthermore, I would ask that parents who are so vehement in their concern for quality umpires come forward and offer their services because I know there is always a need for interested persons to umpire."

The unidentified walking object meandering into the city from Scioto St. last week was our Willie and his bodyguard Mrs. Kelly. Willie's svelte body is something to guard.

They usually watch the day's activities from the court house steps, and make it to Ted Lewis Park for some baseball and softball excitement in the evenings.

Tennis, America's fastest growing sport, has been more-or-less spectatorized in Circleville and Pickaway County due to an alarming lack of facilities.

Ted Lewis Park, the apparent tennis center of the county, is neglected during the day and then swamped at night by players of all ages.

The courts have been resurfaced and are undoubtedly nice, but they can't possibly handle the influx of players who nightly striveto use them. Plans of the Circleville Board of Education to build additional courts at the high school can only be commended.

It seems terribly contradictory that an area with more than 10,000 people, a dozen industries, and churches, swimming pools, lakes, other recreational facilities, and two golf courses can have only enough tennis courts to accommodate 12 tennis players — and six when darkness comes.

Fearless Forecasts — Amateur Deborah Massey will stun the pros in the National Women's Open Golf Championship at La Grange, Ill. — Lee Elder will sting the youngsters in the B. C. Open — the National League will win the All-Star game without breaking a sweat Tuesday night.

Until next time, have a nice day, be a good sport.

Farmers And Sportsmen Hold NRA Rifle Match

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen Assn. held an NRA Rifle Match Thursday evening with nine members firing for record.

The organization voted to designate the recreation area as a game preserve, halting all hunting. This action was taken due to the area being used daily by club members, either using the archery range, rifle and or fishing in the pond. It will also conserve wildlife in the area of stocking purposes in other areas nearby. By making the area a non-hunting one, club officers felt the area could be controlled much easier.

A work session is scheduled for July 28 at 9 a.m. to complete the range area.

The club plans to celebrate National Fishing and Hunting Day Sept. 28 by having an open house to the recreation area. A sighting in day will be held for individuals to sight in their rifles, shotguns and bows. Fishing instruction will be provided for the children who attend. Club instructors will be on hand to supervise all shooting activities.

All-Star Reserves Named By Coaches

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers and Frank Robinson of the California Angels, two aging outfielders with 30 All-Star nominations to their credit, Thursday were added by Manager Dick Williams to the American League squad for Tuesday night's 45th classic.

Williams and National League Manager Yogi Berra each filled out their rosters Thursday with 12 players for the game at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium.

The 39-year old Kaline was the youngest player ever to win an AL batting title in 1955 when he hit .340 as a 19-year-old with the Tigers. It was his 18th nomination to the game.

Robinson, 38 and like Kaline used mostly this season as a designated hitter, is the only player in the sport's history to win Most Valuable Player awards in both leagues. He took the NL award in 1961 with the Cincinnati Reds and the AL title in 1966 with the Baltimore Orioles.

This year both Kaline and Robinson have batted around .250.

They were joined by rookie California shortstop Dave Chalk, first basemen Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and John Mayberry of Kansas City, second basemen Cookie Rojas of Kansas City and Bobby Grich of Baltimore, and third baseman Sal Bando of Oakland.

Outfielders George Hendrick of Cleveland and Joe Rudi of Oakland, and catchers Ed Herrmann of Chicago and Darrell Porter of Milwaukee were other Williams selections.

Berra—who was selected to 15 All-Star teams during his playing career with the New York Yankees—found places on the NL squad for the league's leading hitter, Atlanta's Ralph Garr, and the runs-batted-in leader, Cesar Cedeno of Houston.

Other outfielders Berra selected were base-stealing leader Lou Brock of St. Louis, teammate Reggie Smith, and John Grubb of San Diego.

Third baseman Mike Schmidt and second baseman Dave Cash of Philadelphia, shortstops Don Kessinger of Chicago and Chris Speier of San Francisco, and first baseman Tony Perez of Cincinnati were chosen to back up the starting infield, while Jerry Grote of Berra's Mets and the Cardinals' Ted Simmons were catchers added.

The 8-9 daily double returned $50.60. In the feature race, Hickory Stout took over at the 3-4 pole and won by 1 3/4 lengths over Brandy Mite, covering the mile in 2:05 2-5.

Little Current lost three races at three different tracks before he won the 1974 Preakness by seven lengths.

COOL JOHN—John Jefferson, 64, can be found pedalling through the streets of Louisville, Ky., delivering his load of ice. An iceman for 35 years, he is one of the few men who still deliver ice on routes in Louisville.

Lightning Tamers Try New Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government weather scientists have launched an effort to tame lightning, one of nature's most destructive weapons. Their experiments, just started in thunderstorm-prone Colorado, involve a variation of a technique developed in World War II to jam enemy radar.

Developing thunderstorms are to be seeded with literally millions of inch-long aluminum-coated nylon thread fibers, called chaff. The needle-like fibers will be spewed from aircraft flying through the heart of a brewing storm.

The object is to cause thunderheads to discharge their electrical energy slowly, rather than in sudden and violent bursts of lightning.

In World War II, chaff was deployed from aircraft as a kind of decoy screen designed to protect American bombers from the searching eyes of enemy radar. The technique became known popularly as giving the "electronic raspberry" to the enemy.

Announcement of the newly launched project came on Wednesday from the Commerce department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Heinz W. Kasemir, chief of the Colorado project, stressed that the would-be lightning tamers are not trying to suppress lightning in all its forms. He indicated that a little lightning can be a good thing, by adding nutrient nitrogen to the rain and consequently to the soil, as well as by playing an important role in balancing the planet's "electrical budget."

"We want to be able to suppress severe lightning that comes when it is least welcome—for example, during very dry periods in forest areas and during spacecraft loading and launching operations," Kasemir said.

The experiments will last through August.

Two aircraft—a B26 and a Convair T29 on loan from the Air Force—will operate out of Jefferson County airport, southeast of Boulder, flying their missions during the middle and late afternoon, when Colorado thunderstorm activity is greatest. Their project will concentrate mainly on the northeast corner of Colorado and adjacent areas over Nebraska and Wyoming.

Pair Indicted For Receiving Stolen Property

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cuyahoga County grand jury has indicted a Cleveland policewoman and her husband on seven counts each of receiving stolen property.

Indictments returned Wednesday charged Janet Kennedy, 26, and her husband, James, 33, with possessing six stolen blank driver's license forms and 50 pieces of clothing stolen July 4 from a men's shop in Alma, Mich.

Police said the license forms were part of a lot of more than 8,400 stolen Nov. 20, 1971, from the Ohio Auto License Bureau in Berea.

Mrs. Kennedy has been a policewoman since 1969.

Captive Gorilla On Soft Diet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Colo, the first gorilla born in captivity, will probably be kept on a special soft diet for the rest of her life according to Columbus Zoo Director James Savoy.

The 18-year-old gorilla is suffering from a bowel obstruction Savoy said.

He noted that although her condition is improving, she has lost some weight.

Hold Suspect In Slaying

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Police announced early today that they have arrested one suspect and are searching for three others in connection with the fatal shooting of Patrolman David Cole.

11. Col. John McLaughlin, chief of detectives, said that Roland Reaves, 23, of the city's Mt. Auburn section, was arrested Thursday and would be charged today with aggravated murder.

A warrant has been issued for Ricardo Woods, 23, on charges of aggravated murder and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

McLaughlin said the two allegedly were the ones who shot Cole as he responded to a burglary early Wednesday.

Police declined to name the other two men being sought, but said they were wanted in connection with the burglary.

Police said they believed Woods was heading south with a woman companion.

Reaves was one of seven suspects questioned by police Thursday, police said.

Police said Reaves and Woods lived together in a house about a half mile from the place Cole was killed.

Cole was apparently shot in an exchange of gunfire with the burglars after attempting to stop them, police said.

Elmer Dunaway, president of the Fraternal Order of Police, Thursday blamed Cincinnati City Council for Cole's death.

Dunaway said Cole might be alive today if council authorized 250 more policemen to enable each cruiser to be staffed with two men instead of one.

Cole's widow, Cheryl, has been given a $9,500 check from the Fraternal Order of Police; $5,000 from United Dairy Farmers, Inc., owners of the store where the burglary took place, and $1,000 from the "100 Club," a group of businessmen providing funds for the families of police officers who are killed or injured while on duty.

Hummel Named Special Counsel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bradley Hummel, a former assistant U.S. attorney, has been appointed special counsel to the Ohio attorney general to investigate alleged election law violations.

Hummel will probe charges that false testimony was given during a hearing into alleged distribution of illegal campaign bumper stickers.

The charges were made by Secretary of State Ted Brown following an inquiry into the alleged printing and distribution of unsigned campaign material during the Democratic primary for U.S. Senate.

ANSWERING THIS QUESTION TAKES COURAGE:

Your families need for money every month may continue long after your earned income stops, never to start again.

Bernice Hulse Retires After 34 Years Service

Bernice Noble Hulse retires after teaching 34 years in the Westfall School District. Bernice began her teaching career at the Atlanta School in 1925 and continued through 1928. She then interrupted her teaching career to marry Meeker Hulse.

School regulations during this time excluded married ladies from teaching. Bernice was "drafted" back into teaching in 1943 at Williamsport and taught there until 1961.

The Westfall High School building program created a shifting of students to Atlanta and along with the students went Bernice. Following the completion of Westfall High School, Atlanta was closed and the students and Bernice moved back to Williamsport.

Her teaching career continued there until March of 1971 at which time she and her class were temporarily transferred to Monroe to complete the year because of space problems.

From 1972 until her retirement Bernice has taught at Jackson

Elementary. The movement from one building to another in the district because of building problems prompted Bernice Hulse to state "Have books will travel".

Bernice's training, in part, consisted of Pickaway County Normal School in 1924-25. She also attended Kent State, Capital University, and Ohio University, graduating from Ohio University in 1961.

Business News

Paul I. Moody, Route 1, Ashville, has graduated from United Insurance Adjusters Training School, Knoxville, Tenn. He completed a comprehensive 70-lesson course covering all major aspects of the insurance field.

While a student he was elected a member of the President's Club for academic achievement.

Bernice Hulse, 1,422 fifth and sixth grade children received excellent instruction under her guidance. In the 1962-63 school year she had the unique opportunity to teach Cheryl Cottrill via a telephone intercommunication system in her home while Bernice and the rest of the children conducted regular class. Her comment was that she had to be better prepared and really paint verbal pictures for her student receiving instruction over the intercommunication system.

Bernice feels that the teaching profession has many rewards; but, the greatest satisfaction comes in watching a former student make a success of his or her life and to realize that as a teacher, she had a small part in making that possible.

Retirement brings back many fond memories of past experiences with former staff members and students. Her time will be taken up by her many hobbies and travel. She resides in the village of Williamsport.

Former co-workers wish Bernice much happiness in her retirement and will probably be calling on her many times for her assistance.

Suspend Colson In Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, a former presidential aide convicted of obstructing justice, has been suspended by the state Supreme Judicial Court from practicing law in Massachusetts.

Colson is serving a 1 to 3 year sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of obstructing justice in the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

The Massachusetts Bar Association asked last week that Colson be disbarred. Colson, a Boston native, earned his original license to practice law in Massachusetts. He already has been disbarred in Washington, D.C., where he was convicted.

Nominate 5 For Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Five nominees for two seats on the newly-created Ohio Elections Commission were announced Thursday by state GOP Chairman Kent B. McGough.

They are Nolan W. Carson of Cincinnati, Michael T. Gavin of Cleveland, Barbara Rodemeyer of North Canton, Charles E. Shanklin of Columbus and Daniel E. Swillinger of Columbus.

Democrats earlier this year offered five names for their two places on the commission, which eventually will consist of two members of each party and a fifth member to be selected by the other four.

The Democratic nominees are Alexander Pringle of Athens, Howard Fink of Columbus, J. Griffin Weld of Worthington, William F. Boyle of Toledo and David O'Loughlin of Cleveland.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Mars, highly auspicious, places you in line for success in substantial enterprises. A certain amount of daring favored now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): If you do not notice "small" errors and where you miss chances for "little" gains, you will probably not see the big ones. Be alert.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Do not go overboard in your enthusiasms now. Look well before you invest time, talents, money. But neither be so fearful that you miss advantages and pass over good buys.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Seek to know all you can about those with whom you deal, their feelings on all subjects, and express yourself precisely but considerately. Be wide-awake to real opportunities.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Plan your schedule early and only deviate where a better arrangement is presented on discovered. Apply brakes sensibly in pleasure, risky activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Work constructively, but insert a novel twist into routine to relieve monotony and make it more pleasing. You may renew an old friendship.

LIBRA (Sept 24 to Oct. 23): Your judgment vindicated. A message from someone "in the know" will confirm your own beliefs and consequent decisions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Curb your natural inclination toward unconventionality. Indiscretion now could lead to trouble later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your imagination highly stimulated and, while you may not capitalize on new ideas immediately, they should be highly productive in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be especially cooperative with associates. Good teamwork will produce better results than lone-wolf action.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Sometimes your impulsiveness gets you into trouble, but some spur-of-the-moment activities launched now could have surprisingly good results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Persistence will be the key to advancing your personal plans: Keep trying and friends will rally 'round and give their support.

YOU BORN TODAY: Like most Cancerians, you are an idealist and a humanitarian at heart. According to the stars, you were destined to a life of service to your fellowman—notably in such professions as medicine, religion, education, sociology and reform politics. However, there is another side to your nature—a more material one—which causes you to expend tremendous energy in the accumulation of wealth. Emotional conflict often results from this clash of interests, but you CAN resolve the problem if you will devote your life to the things you do best—content with the satisfactions of achievement rather than more tangible rewards. Art, as an avocation, would make an excellent outlet for your very deep emotions. Birthdate of: Francesco Petrarch, Italian poet; Natalie Wood, film star.

Fish In Palace

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Fish gotta swim, but nowhere does it say they gotta swim in luxury. Nevertheless, there are some select goldfish that reside in aquatic splendor.

These fish, known as "The 100" of underwater society, dart around in a 50-foot pool off the lobby of the Crown Center Hotel here. The pool, adorned with Egyptian papyrus and water iris, is at the base of a 60-foot-high waterfall that plunges through a tropical garden.

The hard shell of the lobster does not increase in size as the animal grows. It is cast off and a new one is acquired periodically.

A HAND OUT

Many young people today are accused of looking for a handout. They seem to feel they are entitled to allowances, allotments, spending money, expense money and gifts. Too many youngsters never think of earning their own way.

The young carrier-salesman who delivers your newspaper every day is different. He's earning his way. He's in business. He buys his newspapers at wholesale and provides home-delivery service each day to customers in his neighborhood. He gets his profits only by making a complete collection from every customer.

When your newspaper carrier comes to collect, he's not looking for a handout. He must pay for your newspapers. By providing daily delivery service to your home, he's earned his profit.

When customers fail to pay their carrier-salesman he must go without his full profit. When they ask him to come back several times, he gets discouraged.

You can encourage your newspaper carrier in his first business venture by having his money ready for him the first time he calls. For this young man Collection Day is Pay Day. You'll be giving him a Hand Up, not a Handout.

Thanks.

Views On Television Assembly

NEW YORK (AP) — News staffers at radio station WASH in Washington, D.C., may still have a bad case of telephone ear. But they have a good reason: four days of talks with two convicts holding terrified hostages at gunpoint.

When the talking started at 3:05 p.m. on July 11, WASH news director Bill McCloskey recalled, somewhat incredulously, he heard the convicts "negotiating back and forth on what their press policy would be."

The men, Frank Gorham Jr. and Robert N. Jones, earlier had seized eight hostages at a cellblock in a federal courthouse in Washington. Through newsmen, the convicts demanded freedom in return for their captives' safe release. They freed one hostage Friday.

The other seven escaped Sunday and the convicts were recaptured Monday night after a shootout with police in which no one was hit.

McCloskey said his station was the first to contact the convicts during the tense, potentially bloody ordeal. He said he looked in the phone book, found a number for the cellblock and simply called up.

Once he had the men on the phone, the station didn't relinquish the line unless the convicts or hostages requested it. WASH got off the line for good Sunday at the request of federal officers, he said.

The cellblock had three phones, he added, "and at one time we were talking simultaneously on all three to either hostages or convicts. Once we realized that, we hung up one of them because we never wanted to block the authorities' access to the cellblock by phone."

He said WASH, when the convicts or hostages consented, taped interviews with them for its news broadcasts, but either offered the talks live for other newsmen who came to the station or replayed the taped conversations for them.

After the 105-hour drama ended, Deputy Atty. Gen. Laurence Silberman said that to avert bloodshed "the main thrust of our strategy was to keep them (the convicts) talking and our main ally was the press."

McCloskey, who said WASH kept its five-member news staff working in shifts to keep its cellblock line open, noted that when the convicts asked the station to hang up "they always called us back."

He attributed this in large part to the telephone rapport Chris Lorenzo, a Washington newspaperman, had built up with the men during the early stages of their escape attempt.

The authorities didn't interfere with the station's phone link, McCloskey observed, but he said he regretted getting off the phone Sunday at the request of federal officers.

"We gave up the line, but it frankly troubled us later because we thought, 'Damn it, we're letting the government decide what we do journalistically,'" he said.

May Expand Quick Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A move can be expected in the legislature next week to bring out bills other than the supplemental appropriations bill agreed to Tuesday by a Senate-House committee. But it may not get far.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, will ask for consideration of his bill to exempt casual household workers from workmen's compensation "if I see we're going to be there a day or two," he said Wednesday.

Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, will seek action on his bill to establish rights and responsibilities of landlords and tenants.

Even Gov. John J. Gilligan will be watching to see if Senate and House leaders open the way for other matters. He would like to see Senate passage of a House-approved bill revising Ohio's real estate licensing law, an aide said Wednesday.

The prospect that they and the lawmakers will have a chance to move pet projects looked somewhat bleak Wednesday, but no one ruled out the possibility.

House Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said he would like to see the members "in and out of here the same day" and that his boss, Speaker A.G. Lencione, D-99 Bellaire, feels the same way. "But no definite decision has been made."

Senate Majority Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, said much the same thing. But Gray added he is "a realist" and thinks there could be matters other than the $124 million supplemental spending bill.

Full floor sessions of the Senate and House are scheduled Tuesday for the announced purpose of acting on that measure which increases state employees pay, provides $45 million in new aid to primary and secondary education, and increases the exemption under the state income tax from $500 to $650 a year, among other things.

The legislature went into summer recess June 12 with the understanding it would come back if and when the Senate-House committee reached an agreement on the supplemental budget bill. But several bills, including Stinziano's landlord-tenant measure, were placed in conference committees after being approved in both chambers in different forms.

WHERE IT'S A PLEASURE TO DO BUSINESS

TAXES PAID—Charles Dawson (left), a senior tax accountant with Texas Eastern Transmission Co., presents a check in the amount of $58,175.73 to Pickaway County Treasurer Bob Wood for taxes. In addition, representing Allegheny Pipe Lines, he presented another check for $5,107.25.

Franciscan Community Meals Board Discusses Expansion

The Franciscan Community Meals Board of Pickaway County met 10 a.m. Thursday, at the Lutheran Parish House. Sally Harden, president, conducted the meeting.

There were 11 members present, three were excused and three guests were welcomed. They were: Irma Fenstermaker of Williamsport and Lucia Spangler and Ruth Hunt of Tarlton. They had been invited to explore the possible need of expanding the program into the outlying areas of Pickaway County.

The treasurer reported a number of cash donations, some of them from persons wishing to remain anonymous. A continuing inflow of money is needed to support the program, especially in these beginning months when delivery and packaging materials must be purchased.

Geneva Woodward reported that a large quantity of chocolate covered pretzels had been made and packaged, and it was decided to sell some at the annual Sidewalk Sale on July 19th, in front of Sentry Hardware.

It was also decided to have the Covered Wagon from Zanesville at the County Fair, and sell pretzels then as well as handing out brochures which are now available at a small cost. If the project is successful, it may be repeated at Pumpkin Show.

It is felt necessary to build up a good size treasury in order that the program might eventually be extended to some who may not be able to pay the whole cost of the meal each day. The price per meal charged is minimal, actually paying only for the actual food delivered plus a portion of the cost of the packaging. Other administrative expenses such as postage, paper, printing of necessary forms, telephone etc. must be paid for by the treasury accumulated from donated funds or earnings from projects such as selling pretzels. All work done by the coordinator, Mrs. Lorene Carroll, or any of the Board officers or the people doing the actual delivery of the meals, is volunteer. There are no paid employees and no government funding is asked or accepted.

Miss Mary Duvall, co-ordinator of the multi-county program, announced that Franciscan Community Meals program will be having a booth at the Ohio State Fair. This is by invitation and recommendation of Dr. Cashman of the Ohio Department of Health. He feels that the program could well be used in every county in Ohio, and felt that the booth at the State Fair was an excellent way to publicize it. Home made bean soup will be prepared and sold in old fashioned bean pots, with the purchasers being allowed to keep the pot. Proceeds will go to the administrative costs for the Zanesville office in connection with the Good Samaritan Medical Center there.

Mrs. Carroll reported that two routes are being served, one from Pickaway Manor Nursing Home and one from Brown Memorial Home. The time to start a third route is fast approaching and the equipment needed is on hand, but more volunteer drivers are needed.

Volunteers are only required to work one day every two weeks, tho some are working every week. The time involved is from 11:30 a.m. until about 1 p.m. Non drivers may help by accompanying a driver, since two people do the delivering, one staying with the car and the other carrying the food in to the home. Each volunteer is given "on the job" training prior to going out alone. This is a good opportunity for retired men to be of help to the community, and it is a very rewarding experience. Anyone interested in knowing more about the program, either to be served, or to serve, is invited to call Mrs. Carroll at 474-4647 or the Pickaway Senior Citizen Center at 474-4916. Clients need not be elderly—just have a need for a nutritious meal at noon, five days a week, Monday through Friday, which they are unable to prepare for themselves. Special diets can be handled, such as diabetic, no salt, low fat, low cholesterol etc. Inquiries about any phase of the program are always welcome. Cash donations may be sent to Vi White, treasurer, 516 Northridge Road.

Under-Employed To Get $15,300 In County

Governor John J. Gilligan has announced the release of $15,300 to Pickaway County in Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds to hire unemployed and underemployed persons in public service jobs.

The county is eligible to receive the funds under guidelines established by the Gilligan administration and determined by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services.

Pickaway County did not meet population requirements for these kinds of funds under the federal Department of Labor guidelines according to Gilligan, but still needed the funds because of underemployment.

Pork Queen Contest To Be Held At Fair

The Pickaway County Pork Queen contest sponsored by the Pickaway County Porkettes will be held July 29 at the fair.

Contestants will meet at the 4-H and Grange Building at 3:30 p.m. Girls must be single, 17-20 years of age and must live on a farm where pork is produced. The contestant shall present a short talk not over five minutes on any subject pertaining to the pork industry. Attractive prizes and worthwhile opportunities await girls who enter this contest.

Please mail the entry blank or contact for more information Mrs. Don Martin, Route 1, Orient, phone 983-3643 or the County Extension Office, 474-7534.

Welfare Subsidy Paid To Pickaway County

Pickaway County received $15,035.30 from the state in welfare assistance money it was reported today by Joseph T. Ferguson, state auditor.

The money is for the administration of family and children's services and general relief, Ferguson said.

State Fair Attractions Announced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Expositions Commission decided Thursday to sell lottery tickets at the 1974 Ohio State Fair and also announced a star-studded grandstand lineup for the nation's second-largest extravaganza.

Commissioners voted to apply for a license to sell the tickets after Atty. Gen. William Brown ruled the sales would not be contrary to a state law that forbids lottery devices and gambling on the fairgrounds.

The commission also decided to hold a lottery drawing for $300,000 Aug. 29 at the state fair.

The fair grandstand entertainment lineup will include 19 different acts, with at least one nationally recognized performer appearing twice on each of the first 11 days, from Aug. 22 through Sept. 1.

On Sept. 2, the last day of the fair, a program entitled "Day of Solid Gold" will feature some of the top entertainers of the past decade.

Shows will be presented daily at 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., except on the final day, Labor Day, when the program will begin at 3 p.m. and run all day.

Performers to be featured include: Thursday, Aug. 2 — Tony Orlando and Dawn, along with Bo Donaldson and the Heywoods.

Friday, Aug. 23 — Roy Clark.

Saturday, Aug. 24 — Johnny Cash.

Sunday, Aug. 25 — Red Skelton, along with the Mike Curb Congregation.

Monday, Aug. 26 — Seals and Crofts.

Tuesday, Aug. 27 — Charlie Rich and Olivia Newton-John.

Wednesday, Aug. 28 — Liza Minnelli.

Thursday, Aug. 29 — Beach Boys.

Friday, Aug. 30 — Bill Cosby, along with the Stylistics.

Saturday, Aug. 31 — O'Jays.

Sunday, Sept. 1 — Mac Davis.

Monday, Sept. 2 — "Day of Solid Gold," with Shirelles, Gary U.S. Bonds, Bo Diddley, Chubby Checkers and Four Seasons.

As usual, all grandstand performances will be free to the public. There will be a $2 fair gate admission fee for adults and a 50-cent charge for children under 12 years.

Also featured for youngsters throughout the 13-day fair will be a free kiddie-land and a free circus.

Rationing Coupons Prove Embarrassing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emergency gasoline rationing coupons printed during the recent energy crisis are stored in secret warehouses in case of future shortages, the Federal Energy Administration said today.

The 4.8 billion coupons have been a source of embarrassment for the FEA since Rep. Bill Gunter, D-Fla., disclosed in May that they could be used to trigger dollar change making machines.

The coupons contain an image of George Washington. The identical image appears on dollar bills.

An FEA spokesman said the coupons, which cost $12.5 million to print, have been stored in several government-owned warehouses across the nation. He declined to specify the locations, but said all were in "secure locations guarded by such government agencies as the Defense Supply Agency, the Federal Reserve and the Bureau of the Mint."

The spokesman claimed little or no money was involved in the storage since all of the facilities are government-owned.

He said the coupons were transported to their storage facilities "in armored vehicles and treated with the same care as currency."

The spokesman said FEA felt the chances of anyone breaking into the government-guarded facilities and stealing the coupons were minimal.

Gunter had claimed the FEA would have to destroy the coupons to keep them from being used in the change machines, but the spokesman said there are no present plans to destroy or alter them.

He noted that the coupons would be worth more than a dollar on the open market if rationing ever should occur. As a result, it would not be advantageous for persons to use them in dollar changers during rationing, he said.

Gunter has been a persistent critic of the coupons, which were printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing as part of a contingency rationing plan.

Monday, Gunter announced his first "Bumbling Bureaucrat of the Month" award was going to James A. Conlon, administrator of the Bureau of Engraving.

The congressman said Conlon was awarded the trophy—a crumpled piece of waste paper—for completing production of the 4.8 billion coupons even after it became clear they were not needed.

Bell Telephone Walkout Looms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Bell Telephone Co. spokesman says a strike by more than 19,000 hourly workers in the state would affect virtually every aspect of the company's service.

But the spokesman, Vic Williamson, was confident that a settlement will be reached in national contract negotiations in Washington, D.C.

"I really don't have a feeling that a strike will come," Williamson said Thursday. "I think the rank-and-file people feel how we feel — that a strike should be avoided at all costs."

The executive board of the Communications Workers of America in Washington authorized a nationwide strike vote Thursday after rejecting a three-year contract offer by Bell Systems, Inc.

Officials said the mail balloting by 500,000 CWA members was expected to take two weeks, during which time talks will continue.

The CWA represents 19,097 employees at Ohio Bell, 500 at Bell Laboratories and an undetermined number at Western Electric facilities around the state.

The Ohio CWA headquarters said locals in the state were awaiting receipt of their packages of voting regulations and ballots from the national office.

Williamson said only "certain local items" are being negotiated in Ohio and "the wage package, including fringe benefits, is being handled in the national talks."

The package rejected by CWA negotiators reportedly would have

Gen. Franco Said Worse

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's 81-year-old ailing chief of state, temporarily transferred power today to his designated successor, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon.

Juan Carlos, 36, who will hold power until Franco's full recovery, was at Franco's hospital bedside.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro also went to the hospital, as well as members of Franco's immediate family, sources said.

A medical bulletin said earlier that Franco's condition had worsened because of gastric complications. But it added that "physiological constants are maintained within normal levels."

Franco was hospitalized July 9 with a phlebitis attack, an inflammation of the veins. President Nixon has also suffered from phlebitis.

Since he was hospitalized, all previous medical bulletins on Franco had indicated he was improving.

NLRB Orders Reinstatement Of Truck Drivers

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered Circle Transport to offer immediate and full reinstatement to Larry Riffle and Leonard Sines, dismissed by the company last November.

According to a finding by the board, the two were dismissed for trying to have Teamsters Local 413 represent the drivers of the trucking firm.

In addition to reinstatement, the company has been ordered to make up back pay to date of discharge plus six per cent interest to the two men.

The order of the National Labor Relations Board is subject to appeal by the Circle Transport Co.
